Qualsafe Level 3 Award in Administering Emergency Oxygen (RQF)

½ day course | Ofqual regulated | Certificate valid for 1 year

Course Overview

The Qualsafe Level 3 Award in Administering Emergency Oxygen (RQF) qualification has been designed for those who are responsible for providing care to casualties where the administration of emergency oxygen may be required.

Over a half day period, candidates will learn about the clinical need for emergency oxygen and the safety considerations of this, as well as how to administer emergency oxygen when dealing with a range of conditions.

Achievement of this qualification confirms candidates have met both the theoretical and practical requirements, however, it does not imply a 'license to practice' – the scope of practice is determined by the organisation responsible for oxygen provision. This qualification does not allow candidates to obtain, store or administer oxygen without clinical governance.

What's Covered?

- Use of oxygen, including:
  - Health and safety principles for use of oxygen
  - Benefits of oxygen administration
  - Indications and contra-indications for emergency oxygen
  - Dangers of compressed gas
- The use of emergency oxygen during CPR and AED usage
- Pre-operational inspections of emergency oxygen equipment
- Clinical need for the administration of emergency oxygen
- Oxygen delivery devices, including:
  - Non re-breather mask
  - Bag valve mask
